A life insurance policy not matured by actual proof of the prior death of the insured shall be deemed to be matured, and the proceeds thereof shall be deemed to be due and payable within the meaning of this act if such policy is in force when the insured shall have attained the limiting age under the mortality table on which the reserve is based. Moneys otherwise admittedly due and payable shall be deemed to be held and owing within the meaning of this act although the policy or contract shall not have been surrendered as required.

(13) All other liquidated choses-in-action of whatsoever kind or character.

The word "property" does not include credits or deposits evidenced by cash balances on unclaimed or refused personal property, nor any property, except the items specified in clauses (1) to (12) in this subdivision, the right to recover which in a proceeding brought by the owner would be barred by the provisions of any statute of limitations, state or federal. This act shall apply to unclaimed property held by a life insurance company as defined in clause (8) of this subdivision where the last known address, according to the records of the life insurance company, of the person entitled to such property is within this state. If a person other than the insured or annuitant is entitled to such property and no address of such person be known to such company, or if it is not definite and certain from the records of such company what person is entitled to such property, then it shall be presumed for the purposes of this act that the last known address of the person entitled to such property is the same as the last known address of the insured or annuitant according to the records of such company.

(c) "Owner", in addition to its commonly accepted meaning, means and includes any person, as hereinbefore defined, having the legal or equitable title or right to make demand to property coming within the purview of this act.

This definition shall be construed as distinguishing the term "holder" of property from the term "owner" of property.

(e) "Abandoned property" means property against which a full period of dormancy has run.

(f) "Period of dormancy" means the full and continuous period of 7 years, during which an owner has ceased, failed or neglected to exercise dominion or control over his property or to assert a right of ownership or possession; or to make presentment and demand for payment and satisfaction; or to do any other act in relation to or concerning such property. This definition shall be construed as excluding any act or doing of a holder of abandoned property not done at the express request or authorization of the owner. In the case of a life insurance policy not matured by actual proof of the prior death of the insured, the period of dormancy shall commence to run from the time that the insured shall have attained the limiting age under the mortality table on which the reserve is based, provided the policy is in force at that time.

(g) "Escheat" means the descent or devolution of property to the state under and by virtue of the constitution of the state, the provisions of the general laws of this state, or the provisions of this act.

No holder shall be required to report abandoned property when according to the books and records of the holder the owner of such abandoned property is a nonresident of this state, provided that such holder makes a report of such abandoned property to any other state under the provisions of the escheats laws of that state. If the holder does not make such a report to another state, he shall make a report of the abandoned property to this state.

(2) A corporation or any other legal entity organized under the laws of any other state licensed to transact business in this state shall be required to report only abandoned property belonging to an owner who, according to the last known address of such owner, was a resident of this state, except that such shares of stock, or membership, or other evidences of interest, and the interest, profits, dividends or other increment thereon, as well as cash, as set forth in section 12, the physical situs of which property is within the state of Michigan, shall be deemed to be abandoned property and shall be reported to the state board of escheats by the holder without regard to the last known address of the owners.

Address unknown, presumption.

(3) If no address of the owner entitled to the funds is known to the holder, it is presumed that the last known address of the owner is the same as the address of the place where the certificate of deposit, draft, cashier check, money order, travelers check or other like instrument was issued or where the transaction was initiated.

Whenever it shall appear from reports filed as in this act provided, or when in any other manner it shall come to the knowledge of the attorney general that there is property in the possession or under the control of a holder, as hereinbefore defined, and for which such holder is accountable to a natural person, as owner, as hereinbefore defined, and that such owner has, for the full period of dormancy or more, ceased to exercise dominion or control, or has failed or neglected to assert a right of ownership or possession in and to such property, and that there is good reason to believe such owner may be dead, leaving no known heirs-at-law, and that his estate should escheat to the state of Michigan, then in such case, the attorney general or the state public administrator may cause appropriate proceedings to be instituted in the probate court of the proper county for the administration of the estate of such owner as a disappeared or missing person. To obtain such redemption the person legally entitled thereto shall make and file with the state board of escheats a written petition for redemption of escheated property, subscribed by him under oath, setting forth his identity, place of residence and the complete facts establishing his preferential right to make claim for and receive the property. The petition shall be supported and accompanied by satisfactory proofs, consisting of certified documents and proof which would be legally admissible in a court of law as evidence.

Hearing; reimbursement.

(2) All petitions for redemption, if in proper form and supported by proofs as required, shall be heard, examined and considered by the board of escheats and shall be allowed or disallowed by the board after due consideration of the proofs. Where it shall appear that the person entitled to a refund, his legal heirs, devisees, legatees or assignees, or the holders in due course of negotiable instruments, would not have the benefit or use or control of the money or of the property due him, or where special circumstances make it appear desirable that payment should be withheld, or where it appears that the person entitled to the money or property is a resident and national of a foreign country, and the federal statutes or federal regulations preclude the sending of moneys from the federal treasury to such persons, the board of escheats may deny such application and hold the money or other property for the benefit of such owner, his legal heirs, devisees, legatees or assignees or such person who may thereafter appear entitled thereto. Such money or other property so held shall be paid out only by further order of the board of escheats. If the petition is allowed by the board, redemption shall be made in the manner following:

Such delivery shall be contingent upon the reimbursement of the state by the owner for all expenditures made by the board for the preservation and protection of the property, including payment of taxes, during the time it was in its possession.

Proceeds of sale.

(b) If the specific property has been sold by the board of escheats and converted into cash as provided in this act, the proceeds of such sale shall be paid over to such applicant owner as a redemption, together with any and all earned increment thereon realized and collected by the board, less the amount expended by the board prior to sale for the protection and preservation of the property, including the payment of taxes.

Money.

(c) If the property to be redeemed by such owner consists wholly of money assigned to the state and delivered to the board of escheats, pursuant to an order or decree of court entered in proceedings instituted under the provisions of this act, redemption shall be made by payment to the applicant owner of the full amount of money so assigned and received. In addition there shall be paid to such owner a sum equal to the amount deducted from the assets of the owner's estate on account of administration expenses, or costs of suit instituted in the circuit court.

Applicant other than owner.

(d) If redemption is to be made to an applicant entitled to redeem other than the initial owner at the time of escheat, such redemption shall be made in the same manner as provided in paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) of this section; except that such applicant shall not be entitled to the additional payment for administration expenses and costs of suit deducted from the assets of the state or earned increment realized and collected by the board after the descent and assignment of the property of the state as described in paragraphs (a), (b) and (c).

Checks and certificates of deposit.

4 of this act as will clearly notify such owner, part owner, or lessee of said premises, that he has a right to demand a statement under oath from such contractor or subcontractor prior to payment of any money on such contract. If neither of such persons can be found for service within the county where the premises are situated, or written notice has not been received, then the notice shall be served by posting in some conspicuous place on the premises within 5 days after the same might have been personally served, if the agent or principal had been found. Such notice shall be in substantially the following form:

To, Take notice that the undersigned is furnishing to certain labor or materials for building, excavating, or altering, improving, repairing, erecting or ornamenting, surveying, or designing engineering plans or surveys for the installation of swimming pools, sewers, water lines, roads, streets, highways or sidewalks, or is renting or leasing equipment as the case may be, a certain, situated on or around or in front (or the improving by furnishing nursery stock or labor in connection therewith) of the following described property: You are further notified that the undersigned will claim a lien upon the foregoing described premises, and any and all additions, alterations and improvements thereto for any amounts now and hereafter owing and unpaid to the undersigned for the performance of such labor, or for the furnishing of such materials, or both. You are further notified that you may at any time retain from any moneys due or to become due to the original contractor, an amount sufficient to pay all demands owing or unpaid to any subcontractor, material man or laborer, who files this notice with you. The original contractor shall, whenever any payment of money shall become due from you, or whenever he desires to draw any money from you on such contract make out and give to you or your agent a statement under oath of the number and names of every subcontractor or laborer in his employ, and of every person furnishing materials, giving the amount, if anything, which is due or to become due to them, or any of them, for work done or materials furnished, and you may retain out of any money then due, or to become due to the contractor, an amount sufficient to pay all demands that are due or to become due to such subcontractors, laborers and material men, as shown by the contractor's statement, and pay the same to them according to their respective rights, and all payments so made shall, as between you and such contractor be considered the same as if paid to such original contractor.

Notice as to labor; owner's payment to contractor, effect.

Such notice, solely as to labor, however, shall be sufficient if served at any time subsequent to said 90 days, but before the original contractor shall make out and give to the owner, part owner or lessee or his agent, a statement under oath of the number and names of every subcontractor or laborer in his employ, and of every person, firm or corporation furnishing materials, giving the amount, if anything, which is due or to become due on them or any of them, for work done or materials furnished as required by section 4 of this act. The owner, part owner or lessee shall not be liable to the subcontractor, material men or laborers, for any greater amount than he contracted to pay the original contractor, and shall be entitled to recoup any damages which he may sustain by reason of any failure or omission in the performance of such contract, but the risk of all payments made to the original contractor after he shall have received the notice above mentioned shall be upon the owner, part owner or lessee until the expiration of 90 days, within which claims for lien may be recorded as hereinafter provided, and no payment made to any contractor before the expiration of said 90 days shall defeat any lien of any subcontractor, material man or laborer, unless such payment has been distributed among the subcontractors, material men or laborers, or if distributed in part only, then to the extent of such distribution. No person shall have a right to claim a lien as in this act provided, unless and until he shall have served a no-

570.7 Discharge of lien by filing of bond; notice to lien holders; objection to sureties.

Sec. 7. The lien of any contractor, sub-contractor, material man or laborer may, at any time, be vacated and discharged, if the owner, part owner or lessee or contractor, shall give to each of such persons whose liens are to be discharged, and file with the clerk of the circuit court for the county in which such property is situated, a good and sufficient bond in the penal sum of twice the amount for which the lien is claimed, with 2 or more sureties to be approved by the said clerk, conditioned for the payment of any sum for which the obligee in such bond may obtain judgment or decree upon the demand for which such statement of account was filed, which sureties shall justify their responsibility before such clerk or a circuit court commissioner, under oath, and shall severally testify that they are each worth in real estate in the county in which such property is situated, over and above all exemptions, incumbrances, debts and other liabilities, the penal sum of said bond, each of which justifications shall be endorsed in full on said bond; the said clerk on receiving such bond shall within 10 days thereafter serve a notice upon all persons claiming a lien upon said premises of the fact of the filing of such bond, stating the amount thereof and the names of the sureties thereon. The said lien-holders or claimants shall have 10 days after the service upon them of the said notice within which to file objections to the sureties on said bond, and in case any such objections to the sufficiency of such sureties is filed with the said clerk within the 10 days as aforesaid, the said clerk shall not approve the said bond until after the said sureties shall have appeared before him and answered under oath such questions as may be put to them by or on behalf of lien-holder or claimant touching their financial responsibility. If no objections to the sufficiency of the sureties upon such bond shall have been filed within the said 10 days, or if, after the examination of the sureties under oath as herein provided, the said county clerk shall approve said bonds, the said clerk shall at once give to the obligee named therein a certificate that a good and sufficient bond has been filed with him as required by law and shall state the names of the obligor and obligee, the amount of the bond and description of the property covered by the lien thereby discharged. Upon the recording of said certificate in the office of said register of deeds, the lien of the obligee therein named, if of record, shall thereby be discharged.

570.8 Claimant to furnish statement of work and materials; owner to exhibit contract; failure, effect.

Sec. 8. Each person claiming a lien as aforesaid, shall, from time to time, whenever required by such owner, part owner, or lessee, or his agent, and within 5 days from de-

570.9 Lien; duration; priority over other interests.

Sec. 9. The several liens herein provided for shall continue for 1 year after such statement or account is recorded in the office of the register of deeds, and no longer unless proceedings are begun to enforce the same as hereinafter provided, and such liens shall take priority as follows:

First, As between persons claiming liens under this statute, the several liens upon the same property attaching by reason of work, labor or materials furnished in carrying forward or completing the same building or buildings, machinery, structure or improvement, shall be deemed simultaneous mortgages.

Second, They shall take priority to all garnishments for the contract debt made prior or subsequent to the commencement of the furnishing of the materials or performance of the labor without regard to the date of recording the claims for lien.

Third, They shall be preferred to all other titles, liens or incumbrances which may attach to or upon such building, machinery, structure or improvement, or to or upon the land upon which they are situated, which shall either be given or recorded subsequent to the commencement of said building or buildings, erection, structure or improvement.

Fourth, The liens for such labor or materials furnished, including those for additions, repairs and betterments, shall attach to the buildings, machinery, erection, structure, or improvement for which they are furnished or done, subject to any prior recorded title, claim, lien, incumbrance, or mortgage to or upon the land upon which such building or buildings, machinery, erection, structure or improvement belongs or is put. Any person holding a lien for such labor or materials furnished upon any premises subject to any prior recorded lien, incumbrance or mortgage may pay off any such prior lien, incumbrance or mortgage, and shall thereupon be subrogated to all the rights of the prior holder of such lien, incumbrance or mortgage.

affected by such liens so recorded in the office of the register of deeds, and all persons holding like liens so recorded, and those having recorded notice of intention to claim a lien, parties to such action. And all persons holding like liens or having recorded notice of intention to claim a lien, or any other persons having rights in said property, may make themselves parties thereto on motion to the court and notice to complainant, and may file their intervening or cross bills or answers claiming the benefit of cross bills and notices of lis pendens therein. And whenever the principal contractor or any subcontractor shall have given to the owner, or other person or persons having rights in said property, any bond or surety or guaranty of any kind to protect such owner or other person or persons having rights in said property, against the liens provided for by this act, then the complainant or the owner or other person or persons having rights in said property, may make the surety or sureties in such bond or guaranty, parties to such action by such original bill or by cross bills or answers claiming the benefit of a cross bill, and the court shall thereupon settle and determine the rights and liabilities of all the parties in the matter, and make such decree as may be required to determine and enforce the rights and liabilities of the various parties including such surety or sureties. Amendments may be made to any bill or cross bill at any time before final order, and if it shall appear that any party has had insufficient notice of any such proceedings, such further notice shall be given as the court shall think just.

Sec. 3. The owner, part owner, or lessee may at any time retain from any monies due to the original contractor, an amount sufficient to pay all demands owing or unpaid to any sub-contractor, material man, or laborer who has filed and certified the notice in the manner and form as provided in section 2 of this act. The original contractor shall, whenever any payment of money shall come due from the owner, part owner, or lessee or whenever he desires to draw any money from the owner, part owner, or lessee on such contract, make out and give to the owner, part owner, or lessee, or his agent, a statement under oath, of the number and name of every sub-contractor or laborer in his employ, and of every person furnishing the materials, giving the amount if anything, which is due or to become due to them or any of them for work done or materials furnished, and the owner, part owner or lessee or his agent may retain out of any money then due or to become due to the contractor, an amount sufficient to pay all demands that are due or to become due to such sub-contractors, laborers, and material men, as shown by the contractor's statement, and pay the same to them according to their respective rights, and all payments so made shall, as between such owner, part owner, or lessee, and such contractor, be considered the same as if paid to such original contractor. Until the statement provided for in this section is made, in manner and form as herein provided, the contractor shall have no right of action or lien against the owner, part owner, or lessee on account of such contract, and any payments made by the owner, part owner, or lessee, before such statement is made, or without retaining sufficient money, if that amount be due or is to become due, to pay the sub-contractors, laborers, or material men, as shown by the statement, shall be considered illegal and made in violation of the rights of the persons intended to be benefited by this act, and the rights of such sub-contractors, laborers and material men to a lien shall not be affected thereby. If neither such owner, part owner, lessee, or his agent can be found within the county, then it shall not be necessary for the contractor to make and deliver such statement as a prerequisite to the institution of proceedings under this act, or other suit or proceeding. In order that the owner, part owner, or lessee may be protected, he may at any time during the progress of the work demand in writing of the contractor, the statement herein provided for, which shall be made by the contractor and given to the owner, part owner, or lessee, or his agent, and if such contractor fail to furnish such statement within 5 days after demand made, he shall be liable to such owner, part owner, or lessee, each time he so refuses or neglects to comply with such demand, in the sum of 100 dollars, and also for all actual damages occasioned by such neglect or refusal, to be recovered in an action on the case or in any other appropriate proceeding.

Such verified statement of lien shall be recorded and indexed by the register of deeds in the same manner as provided by law for the recording of real estate mortgages, and such recording shall have the same effect as to notice as against subsequent purchasers or encumbrancers as the recording of a mortgage. Any person holding a lien for such labor or materials furnished upon any leasehold estate subject to any prior recorded lien, encumbrance or mortgage may pay off any such prior lien, encumbrance or mortgage, and shall thereupon be subrogated to all of the rights of the prior holder of such lien, encumbrance or mortgage.

The People of the State of Michigan enact:

570.301 Garage keeper's lien; priority over other liens, limitation.

Sec. 1. Every garage keeper who in pursuance of any contract, expressed or implied, written or unwritten, furnishes any labor, material or supplies shall have a lien upon any vehicle stored, maintained, supplied or repaired by him for the proper charges due for the storage, maintenance, keeping and repair thereof and for gasoline, electric current or other accessories and supplies furnished or expenses bestowed or labor performed thereon at the request or with the consent of the registered owner of the vehicle, whether such owner be a conditional sale vendee or a mortgagor remaining in possession or otherwise, and such garage keeper may detain the vehicle at any time it is in his possession within 90 days after performing the last labor or furnishing the last supplies for which the lien is claimed. The lien insofar as the same is for labor and material furnished in making repairs upon a vehicle shall have priority over all other liens upon the vehicle. The lien shall become of no effect as against the holder of a chattel mortgage, conditional sales agreement or other lien prior to the accrual of the lien upon the payment by the prior lien holder to the garage keeper of the amount of the lien, but not exceeding $600.00 in the case of a ground vehicle, $2,000.00 in the case of an aircraft and $200.00 in the case of watercraft or any accessory used for the operation of watercraft, which payment shall then be added to the amount of the lien of the prior lien holder.

The sale shall be held not less than 20 days nor more than 60 days after the expiration of the 45-day period. Before any sale is held, the garage keeper shall give to the department of state and to any lien holder, as shown by the records of the department, and to the registered owner of the vehicle, not less than 10 days' written notice of the time and place of the sale. Any surplus received at the sale, after all charges of the garage keeper have been paid and satisfied and all costs of sale have been deducted, shall be returned to any lien holder who has given notice to the garage keeper of his claim of lien, before distribution of the proceeds of the sale is complete, and the balance shall be returned to the registered owner of the vehicle.

Sec. 1310. (2) The board shall secure from the county clerk, and the county clerk shall provide, copies of the current voter registration cards or the current voter registration lists for each precinct in the county. The board shall treat the cards and lists as 1 list, with voters grouped either by precinct or by city, township or village as they may be provided.

HISTORY: Add. 1968, p. 587, Act 326, Eff. Nov. 15;—Am. 1969, p. 736, Act 326, Eff. Sep. 1.

600.1311 Jurors; key number, determination.

Sec. 1311. The board shall arrive at a key number as follows:

(a) Add the number of jurors the judge has estimated will be needed to the number that experience has shown will be eliminated because of disqualification or exemption. Example: If the judge estimates 100 jurors will be needed and the board has found that to select finally 100 jurors, 50 persons will usually be found to be exempt or disqualified, including those who have moved from the county or died, the board shall add 50 to the 100.

(b) Divide the number of names on the voter registration lists by the result, obtaining the nearest integral quotient. Example: If there are 50,000 names on the voter registration list, divide 50,000 by 150.

(c) The result is the key number for the period for which jurors are to be selected. Example: 50,000 divided by 150 equals 333-1/3, so 333 would be the key number in the example.

HISTORY: Add. 1968, p. 588, Act 328, Eff. Nov. 15.

600.1312 First jury list; compilation.

Sec. 1312. (1) The board shall apply the key number uniformly to the names on the voter registration list and compile a list or card index, to be known as the first jury list, which shall include every name and only such names as the application of the key number has designated. The board shall do this as follows:

(a) Arrange the various voter registration lists into 1 list. The order in which the lists are arranged or the fact that some lists are by precincts and some lists are alphabetized is not relevant.

(b) Select by a random method a starting number between 0 and the key number.

(c) Count down the voter registration list the number of names to reach the starting number. That name shall be placed on the first jury list.

(d) Continue from that name counting down the list, beginning to count again with the number 1, until the key number is reached. That name shall be placed on the first jury list.

(e) Repeat the process provided in paragraph (d) until the whole voter registration list has been counted and the names placed on the first jury list.

(f) The board shall then remove from the first jury list the name of any person who its records show served, pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, as a petit or grand juror in any court of record or district court in the county at any time in the preceding 1 year.

(2) The board may use electronic and mechanical devices in carrying out its duties under this section.

(2) If a prospective juror without legal disqualification or exemption shall apply to the board to be excused from jury service, the jury board may, with the written approval of the presiding circuit judge, exclude his name from the second jury list when it appears that the interests of the public or of the prospective juror will be materially injured by his attendance, or the health of the juror or that of a member of his family requires his absence from court.

An attending officer or board member or an employee of the board shall keep a minute of the drawing, in which he shall enter the name written on every slip of paper drawn before any other slip is drawn. If the name of a person is drawn who is not qualified to serve as a juror to the knowledge of any member of the board, an entry of this fact shall be made on the minute of the drawing, the slip of paper containing his name shall be destroyed, and another slip then drawn in place of that destroyed. (2) If the jurors were drawn in accordance with this act and the rules of the court, it is not a ground of challenge to a panel or array of jurors that the person who drew them was a party or interested in the cause, or was counsel or attorney for, or related to, either party therein.

(3) If the jurors were drawn in accordance with this act and the rules of the court, it is not a ground of challenge to a panel or array of jurors that they were summoned by the sheriff who was a party, or interested in the cause, or related to either party

For a juror's first required court appearance, service shall be by a written notice addressed to him at his place of residence as shown by the records of the board, which notice may be by ordinary mail or by personal service. For subsequent service notice may be in any manner directed by the judge. The officer giving notice to jurors shall keep a record thereof and shall make a return if directed by the court. The new bond shall then be deemed valid from the date of the execution of the earlier bond. When application is made to amend, the court, officer, or body is not limited to the particular amendment applied for but has power to amend the bond in any respect so as to make the defective bond meet the requirements that existed at the time it was given. (2) If a plaintiff filing the notice unreasonably neglects to proceed in the action, or does not commence or prosecute the action in good faith, the court, in its discretion, upon the application of any person aggrieved and upon such notice as may be directed or approved by it, may direct that a notice of the pendency of an action be canceled of record by a particular register of deeds, or by all the registers of deeds, with whom it is filed.

(2) The court in which the action is pending may make an order for the bond upon such terms as to costs or otherwise as may seem just. The discretion vested in the court by this section may be exercised in any such action, notwithstanding the same may have been brought to recover a judgment affecting the title to, or the possession, use or enjoyment, of specific real property.

(3) Upon an application as provided in subdivision (1) for cancellation of the notice of pendency, made in any pending or future action for specific performance of a contract to convey real property, whether or not the court determines that adequate relief can be secured to the party filing the notice of pendency by the giving of a bond, the court may order that the notice be canceled, upon the giving of a bond by the applicant upon terms fixed in the order, as provided in subdivision (2), unless the person filing the notice of pendency gives a bond, upon terms to be fixed by the order.

600.2911 Imputation of unchastity.

Sec. 2911. (1) Words imputing a lack of chastity to any female are actionable in themselves and subject the person who uttered or published them to a civil action for the slander in the same manner as the uttering or publishing of words imputing the commission of a criminal offense.

Libel or slander; damages, actual, exemplary, retraction.

(2) (a) Except as provided in (b), in actions based on libel or slander the plaintiff is entitled to recover only for the actual damages which he has suffered in respect to his property, business, trade, profession, occupation, or feelings.

(b) Exemplary and punitive damages shall not be recovered in actions for libel unless the plaintiff, before instituting his action, gives notice to the defendant to publish a retraction and allows a reasonable time to do so, and proof of the publication or correction shall be admissible in evidence under a denial on the question of the good faith of the defendant, and in mitigation and reduction of exemplary or punitive damages. The retraction shall be published in the same size type, in the same editions and as far as practicable, in substantially the same position as the original libel.

Same; justification; newspaper's fair report of public proceeding, privilege.

(3) If the defendant in any action for slander or libel gives notice in his justification that the words spoken or published were true, this notice shall not be of itself proof of the malice charged in the complaint though not sustained by the evidence. In any action for slander or for publishing a libel even though the defendant has pleaded or attempted to prove a justification he may prove mitigating circumstances including the sources of his information and the ground for his belief. No damages shall be awarded in any libel action brought against a reporter, editor, publisher, or proprietor of a newspaper for the publication in it of a fair and true report of any public and official proceeding, or for any heading of the report which is a fair and true headnote of the article published. This privilege shall not apply to a libel which is contained in any matter added by any person concerned in the publication or contained in the report of anything said or done at the time and place of the public and official proceeding which was not a part of the public and official proceeding.

Same; contribution from persons jointly responsible; exception as to sellers; author's liability to printer or publisher.

(4) Any person or persons against whom a judgment is recovered for damages arising out of the authorship or publication of a libel is entitled to recover contribution in a civil action from all persons who were originally jointly liable for the libel with the defendant or defendants, whether joined as defendants or not, to the same extent as and with the same effect that joint sureties are liable to contribute to each other in cases where they are sureties on the same contract. Where the libel has been published in any newspaper, magazine, or other periodical publication the servants and agents of the publisher of the periodical, and the news agents and other persons who have been connected with the libel only by selling or distributing the publication containing the libel and who have not acted maliciously in selling or publishing the libel, shall not be required to contribute and shall not be taken into account in determining the amount that any joint tortfeasor is required to contribute under the provisions of this section. And if the author of the libel acted maliciously in composing or securing the printing or the publication of the libel and the printer, publisher, or distributor of the libel acted in good faith and without malice in printing and publishing the libel the author of the libel is liable in a civil action to that printer, publisher, or distributor for the entire amount of the damages which are recovered against and paid by that printer, publisher, or distributor.

Same; waste by holder of present estate, double damages.

(2) (a) Any guardian, tenant in dower, life tenant, or tenant for years who commits or suffers any waste, during his term or estate, to the lands, tenements or hereditaments, without having a lawful license to do so, is liable for double the amount of actual damages. (b) A claim under this provision may be brought by the person having the next immediate estate, in fee, for life, or for years or by any person who has the remainder or reversion in fee or for life after an intervening estate for life or for years; and each of the parties shall recover damages according to his estate in the premises. A joint tenant or tenant in common may bring the claim in case of waste by one of his joint tenants or tenants in common. An heir, whether of full age or not, after coming into possession of his inheritance, may maintain a claim for waste done in the time of his ancestor as well as in his own time, unless recovery has been had by the executor or administrator of the ancestor. A tenant who assigns his full interest is not liable for waste done or suffered by his assignees while he remains out of possession of the premises.

Any person who shall violate the terms of any such order is guilty of contempt of the court in which the action is pending and is punishable as in other cases of contempt.

Same; land sold on execution, liability of person entitled to possession, acts after sale not waste.

(6) (a) If, at any time after the sale of real estate on execution and before a deed is executed in pursuance of the sale, the defendant in the execution or any other person commits waste on the real estate or removes from it any buildings, fences, or other fixtures belonging to the land which would pass to the grantee by a deed of conveyance of the land, the purchaser at the sale or any person who has acquired his rights may have and maintain, against the person doing the injury and against any other person who has the buildings, fences, or fixtures in his possession after their removal, the same actions which the absolute owner of the premises would be entitled to.

(b) Whenever any lands or tenements are sold by virtue of an execution issued upon any judgment, the person to whom the conveyance is executed by the sheriff pursuant to the sale has a claim for damages for any waste committed on the premises by any person after the sale.

(c) Any person entitled to the possession of lands or tenements sold under execution may use and enjoy the premises until the period of redemption has run in the following ways without being guilty of waste:

(i) He may in all cases use and enjoy the premises sold in the same manner and for the same purposes in and for which they were used and enjoyed prior to the sale, doing no permanent injury to the freehold;

(ii) If the premises sold were buildings or other erections he may make necessary repairs to them although he shall not make alterations in the form or structure of them;

(iii) If the premises sold were land, he may use and improve the land in the ordinary course of husbandry, but he shall not be entitled to any crops growing on the premises at the expiration of the period of redemption;

(iv) He may apply any wood or timber on the land to the necessary repair of any fences, buildings, or erections which were on the premises at the time of sale;

(v) If he is in actual occupation of the land sold he may take necessary firewood from the land for the use of his family.

600.2922 Wrongful death; liability of tort-feasor.

Sec. 2922. (1) Whenever the death of a person or injuries resulting in death shall be caused by wrongful act, neglect or default, and the act, neglect or default is such as would, if death had not ensued, have entitled the party injured to maintain an action and recover damages, in respect thereof, then and in every such case, the person who, or the corporation which would have been liable, if death had not ensued, shall be liable to an action for damages, notwithstanding the death of the person injured, and although the death shall have been caused under such circumstances as amount in law to felony. All actions for such death, or injuries resulting in death, shall be brought only under this section.

Same; persons entitled to sue; damages, distribution.

(2) Every such action shall be brought by, and in the names of, the personal representatives of such deceased person, and every such action the court or jury may give such damages, as, the court or jury, shall deem fair and just, with reference to the pecuniary injury resulting from such death, to those persons who may be entitled to such damages when recovered and also damages for the reasonable medical, hospital, funeral and burial expenses for which the estate is liable and reasonable compensation for the pain and suffering, while conscious, undergone by such deceased person during the period intervening between the time of the inflicting of such injuries and his death. Such person or persons entitled to such damages shall be of that class who, by law, would be entitled to inherit the personal property of the deceased had he died intestate. The amount recovered in every such action for pecuniary injury resulting from such death shall be distributed to the surviving spouse and next of kin who suffered such pecuniary injury and in proportion thereto. Within 30 days after the entry of such judgment, the judge before whom such case was tried or his successor shall certify to the probate court having jurisdiction of the estate of such deceased person the amount and date of entry thereof, and shall advise the probate court by written opinion as to the amount thereof representing the total pecuniary loss suffered by the surviving spouse and all of the next of kin, and the proportion of such total pecuniary loss suffered by the surviving spouse and each of the next of kin of such deceased person, as shown by the evidence introduced upon the trial of such case. After providing for the payment of the reasonable medical, hospital, funeral and burial expenses for which the estate is liable, the probate court shall determine as provided by law the manner in which the amount representing the total pecuniary loss suffered by the surviving spouse and next of kin shall be distributed, and the proportionate share thereof to be distributed to the surviving spouse and the next of kin. The remainder of the proceeds of such judgment shall be assets of the estate of the deceased.

Same; notice by surety as bar to suit.

(3) No such suit shall be barred, nor shall the amount which the plaintiff may be entitled to recover therein, be affected by any notice given by any surety in such bond, of a judgment recovered thereon, unless it is accompanied by an allegation that the sureties in such bond, some or 1 of them, have been obliged to pay the damages assessed by such judgment, or some part thereof, for want of sufficient property of such officer whereon to levy the same, or that they will be obliged to pay the same, or some part thereof for the same reason; nor unless such notice is verified by the oath of the defendant giving the same.

Same; damages paid equal to liability of surety.

Same; execution, order of levy.

(6) Whenever a judgment is obtained against an officer and his sureties, a direction shall be endorsed on the execution issued thereon, by the attorney issuing the same, to levy the amount of such execution, in the first place, of the property of such officer, and if sufficient property of such officer cannot be found to satisfy such execution, then to levy the deficiency of the property of the sureties.

Same; judgments in excess of liability of surety, distribution of proceeds of levy.

(7) Whenever several judgments are obtained at the same term, upon any official bond of any officer, for damages, amounting in the whole to more than the sums for which the sureties therein shall be liable, the court shall order the moneys levied upon such judgments from the property of the sureties, to be distributed to the persons for whose use such judgments were recovered respectively, in proportion to the amount of their respective recoveries.

Same; unsatisfied executions, distribution of proceeds.

(8) If executions are issued upon several judgments obtained at the same term, upon any such official bond, and sufficient money is not raised to satisfy all of the said executions, the court shall distribute the money collected on such executions to the plaintiffs in proportion to the amount of their respective recoveries.

600.2942 Public securities validation; action to contest validity; counterclaim; third party complaint, continuances, amendment.

Sec. 2942. (1) If an action contesting the validity of any securities proposed to be issued or any aspect of such validity is brought against any public body, the public body may file a counterclaim against the plaintiff and a third party complaint against the state of Michigan and all persons, resident and nonresident, owning property or subject to taxation in the public body or in the political entity or entities it represents, and all other persons interested in or affected by the issuance of the securities, for the purpose of securing an adjudication, forever conclusive as against all the parties, as to the validity of the securities or as to those issues affecting such validity as are then properly justiciable or become so during the pendency of the proceedings. The court may grant continuances and permit amendments as may be appropriate to enable the issues affecting the validity of the securities to be adjudicated as fully as possible.

Counterclaim, third party complaint, contents.

(2) The counterclaim and third party complaint shall briefly set out by proper allegation, reference or exhibit, insofar as the circumstances of the case permit, such facts as may be necessary to show the authority of the public body to issue the securities and to take any other action essential to their validity, the taking of all proceedings and other action and the satisfaction of all legal requirements essential to the validity of the securities (including the holding of any required election and the result thereof), the nature and characteristics of the securities (including amount, date, purpose, maturities, maximum interest rate), the source of the funds from which the securities are to be paid, and any other essential matters relevant to the issues upon which an adjudication is sought. In case the public body was established for the purpose of constructing or acquiring a public improvement for which the securities are to be issued, the counterclaim shall also set forth the authority for the creation of the public body.

Same; notice to appear.

(3) Upon the filing of the counterclaim and third party complaint, the court shall issue an order in general terms in the form of a notice directed against the plaintiff in the action and against the state of Michigan and, without naming them, all public bodies, property owners, taxpayers, citizens and others having or claiming any right or interest affected in any way by the issuance of the securities, requiring them, in general terms, and the state of Michigan, through its attorney general or his representative, to appear at a time and place designated in the order and show cause why the prayer of the counterclaim and third party complaint should not be granted.

Same; service on plaintiff and attorney general; examination, defenses.

(4) A copy of the counterclaim, the third party complaint, and the order shall be served upon the plaintiff in the action and upon the attorney general at least 20 days before the time fixed in the order for the hearing. The attorney general shall carefully examine the counterclaim and third party complaint and if it appears, or there is reason to believe, that it is defective, insufficient or untrue, or if in his opinion the securities have not been duly authorized or cannot be lawfully issued, or the taxes, assessments, rates, tolls or other charges or revenues provided for payment of said securities cannot be lawfully levied, collected and pledged for such purpose, he shall make such defense thereto as may seem proper.

Publication of order to appear.

(5) Prior to the date set for hearing, the clerk of the court shall publish a copy of the order once each week for 3 consecutive weeks in each of the newspapers designated below, the first publication in each newspaper to be not less than 20 nor more than 30 days prior to the date set for hearing:

(a) If the public body embraces, or the project for which the securities are to be issued extends into, territory in only 1 county, the notice shall be published in the county in a newspaper of general circulation in the territory.

(b) If the public body embraces, or the project for which the securities are to be issued extends into, territory in more than 1 but not more than 5 counties, the notice shall be published in each of the counties in a newspaper of general circulation therein.

(c) If the public body embraces, or the project for which the securities are to be issued extends into, territory in more than 5 counties, the notice shall be published in each of the 5 most populous counties in a newspaper of general circulation therein, and also in a newspaper or newspapers of general circulation in the territory outside of the 5 counties.

(d) If the public body is the state of Michigan (as distinguished from a political subdivision thereof) or any department, commission, agency or official thereof, or if the project extends throughout the state, the notice shall also be published in the county wherein the seat of state government is located, in a newspaper of general circulation therein.

Same; parties.

(6) At least 10 days prior to the date set for the hearing, the clerk of the court shall give such notice of the filing of the counterclaim and the third party complaint and of the hearing on the order to show cause to all known parties as the court shall direct in the order.

Other actions; injunction, consolidation, appeal.

(7) Upon motion of the public body, whether before or after the date set for hearing as provided in (3), the court may enjoin the commencement by any person or public body, of any other action contesting the validity of the security issue described in the counterclaim, may order a joint hearing or trial before him of all issues raised by the counterclaim and third party complaint which are then pending in any action or proceeding in any court, may order all such actions or proceedings consolidated with the action pending before him, and may make such orders as may be necessary and proper to effect such consolidation and as may tend to avoid unnecessary costs or delays and multiplicity of actions. Such orders shall not be appealable.

Intervention; hearing, judgment.

(8) Any public body, property owner, taxpayer, citizen or other person affected by or interested in the issuance of the securities may become a named party to the proceedings by pleading to the third party complaint on or before the time set for hearing as provided in (3) or thereafter by intervention upon leave of court. At the time and place designated in the order for hearing, the court shall proceed to hear and determine all questions of law and fact in the proceedings and may make such orders as to the proceedings and such adjournments as will enable the court properly to try and determine the same and to render a final judgment therein with the least possible delay. Such final judgment shall be based upon a written opinion of the court which shall find the facts specially and shall state separately the court's conclusions of law therein.

Appeal to supreme court.

(9) Any parties to the cause, whether plaintiff, defendant, third party plaintiff, third party defendant, intervenor or otherwise, dissatisfied with the final judgment, may appeal therefrom to the supreme court. The supreme court, insofar as practicable, shall expedite and give priority to the hearing and decision on the appeal.

Adjudication upholding validity, effect.

(10) In the event that the judgment upholds the validity of the securities or such aspects thereof as have been adjudicated, and no appeal is taken therefrom, or if an appeal is taken and the judgment is affirmed, the judgment shall be forever binding and conclusive against the public body and all other parties to the cause, named or unnamed, and shall constitute a permanent injunction against the institution by any person of any action contesting any aspect of the validity of the security issue which has been adjudicated.

FORECLOSURE OF MORTGAGES AND LAND CONTRACTS

600.3101 Circuit courts; jurisdiction to foreclose mortgages.

Sec. 3101. The circuit courts have jurisdiction to foreclose mortgages on real estate and land contracts.

HISTORY: New 1961, p. 536, Act 236, Eff. Jan. 1, 1963.

600.3105 Mortgage; land contract; foreclosure proceeding; unsatisfied execution on judgment at law.

Sec. 3105. (1) If a judgment has been obtained in any other civil action for the money, or part thereof, demanded in the complaint in an action to foreclose a mortgage on real estate or a land contract, no proceeding shall be had in the action to foreclose unless the sheriff or other proper officer has returned an execution as unsatisfied, in whole or in part, and certified that he can find no property of the defendant out of which to satisfy the execution except the mortgaged premises.

Proceeding at law.

(2) After a complaint has been filed to foreclose a mortgage on real estate or land contract, while it is pending, and after a judgment has been rendered upon it, no separate proceeding shall be had for the recovery of the debt secured by the mortgage, or any part of it, unless authorized by the court.

Consolidation of suits.

(3) When a complaint is filed to foreclose a trust mortgage or deed of trust given to secure notes, bonds, or other evidences of indebtedness, the court may at any time before final judgment require all cases begun subsequent to the filing of the foreclosure complaint, by plaintiffs holding notes, bonds, or other evidences of indebtedness secured by the mortgage, to be consolidated with the action to foreclose, and the court may adjudicate the rights of the individual security holders.

600.3110 Foreclosure of interest or installment; payment before judgment.

Sec. 3110. Whenever a complaint is filed for the satisfaction or foreclosure of any mortgage on real estate or land contract, upon which there is due any interest or any portion or installment of the principal and there are other portions or installments to become due subsequently, the complaint shall be dismissed upon the defendant's bringing into court, at any time before the judgment of sale, the principal and interest due, with costs.

HISTORY: New 1961, p. 536, Act 236, Eff. Jan. 1, 1963.

600.3115 Foreclosure proceeding; sale, time.

Whenever a complaint is filed for the foreclosure or satisfaction of any mortgage on real estate or land contract, the court has power to order a sale of the premises which are the subject of the mortgage on real estate or land contract, or of that part of the premises which is sufficient to discharge the amount due on the mortgage on real estate or land contract plus costs. But the circuit judge shall not order that the lands subject to the mortgage be sold within 6 months after the filing of the complaint for foreclosure of the mortgage or that the lands which are the subject of the land contract be sold within 3 months after the filing of the complaint for foreclosure of the land contract.

Sec. 3120. If, after a judgment of sale is entered against him, the defendant brings into court the principal and interest due with costs, the proceedings in the action shall be stayed; but the court shall enter a judgment of foreclosure and sale to be enforced by a further order of the court upon a subsequent default in the payment of any portion or installment of the principal, or of any interest thereafter to become due.

HISTORY: New 1961, p. 537, Act 236, Eff. Jan. 1, 1963.

All sales of land on foreclosure of a land contract or mortgage on real estate shall be made by a circuit court commissioner of the county in which the judgment was rendered or of the county where the land or some part of the land is situated, or by some other person duly authorized by the order of the court. These sales shall be at public sale between the hour of 9 o'clock in the morning and 4 o'clock in the afternoon and shall take place at the court house or place of holding of the circuit court in the county in which the land or some part of it is situated or at any other place the court directs. The sale is subject to the provisions of section 6091.

600.3130 Sale; deed, contents, execution, title.

Sec. 3130. (1) The circuit court commissioner or other person making the sale shall execute deeds specifying the names of the parties in the action, the date of the land contract or mortgage, when and where it was recorded, a description of the premises sold, and the amount for which each parcel of land described in the deed was sold; and he shall endorse upon each deed the time it becomes operative in case the premises are not redeemed according to law. Unless the premises described in the deed or any parcel of them are redeemed within the time limited for redemption the deed shall become operative as to all parcels not redeemed, and shall vest in the grantee named in the deed, his heirs, or assigns all the right, title, and interest which the mortgagor had at the time of the execution of the mortgage or at any time thereafter.

Recording of deed, entry of redemption.

(2) The deed or deeds of sale shall as soon as practicable and within 20 days after the sale be deposited with the register of deeds of the county in which the land therein described is situated, and the register shall endorse upon the deed the time it was received and shall record the deed at length in a book to be provided in his office for that purpose and shall index the deed in the regular index of deeds, and the fee for recording the deed shall be included among the other costs and expenses allowed by law. In case the premises or any parcel of them are redeemed the register of deeds shall write on the face of the record the word "Redeemed" and he shall write at what date the entry is made and sign the entry with his official signature.

HISTORY: New 1961, p. 537, Act 236, Eff. Jan. 1, 1963.

600.3135 Proceeds of sale; application; disposition of surplus.

Sec. 3135. (1) The proceeds of every sale under a judgment shall be applied to the discharge of the debt adjudged by the court to be due and of the costs awarded; and if there is any surplus it shall be brought into court for the use of the defendant, or of the person entitled to it, subject to the order of the court.

Investment of surplus.

(2) If the surplus or any part of it remains in the court for the term of 3 months without being applied for, the circuit court may direct that it be put out at interest under the direction of the court for the benefit of the defendant, his representatives, or assigns, to be paid to them by the order of the court.

HISTORY: New 1961, p. 537, Act 236, Eff. Jan. 1, 1963.

600.3140 Mortgage foreclosure sale; redemption; portions of premises.

Sec. 3140. The mortgagor, his heirs, executors, administrators, or any person lawfully claiming from or under him or them may redeem the entire premises sold by paying, within 6 months from the time of the sale, to the purchaser, his executors, administrators, or assigns, or to the register of deeds in whose office the deed of sale is deposited as provided in the court rules, for the benefit of the purchaser, the sum which was bid with interest from the time of the sale at the rate percent borne by the mortgage. The vendee of a land contract, his heirs, executors, administrators, or any person lawfully claiming from or under him or them may redeem the entire premises sold within 6 months from the time of the sale by paying to the purchaser, his executors, administrators, or assigns or to the register of deeds in whose office the deed of sale is deposited as provided in the court rules, for the benefit of the purchaser, the sum which was bid with interest from the time of the sale at the rate percent borne by the land contract. In case the sum is paid to the register of deeds the sum of $5.00 shall be paid to him as a fee for the care and custody of the redemption money. After these sums have been paid the deed of sale is void and of no effect, but in case any distinct lot or parcel separately sold is redeemed, leaving a portion of the premises unredeemed, then the deed of sale is inoperative merely as to the portion or portions of the premises which are redeemed, and to the portions not redeemed it remains valid and of full effect.

HISTORY: New 1961, p. 538, Act 236, Eff. Jan. 1, 1963; — Am. 1963, p. 418, Act 240, Eff. Sep. 6; — Am. 1970, p. 262, Act 86, Eff. Apr. 1, 1971.

600.3145 Redemption from sale; additional sums for taxes and insurance premiums.

Sec. 3145. The court may make provision in any judgment of foreclosure for the adding to the amount determined in the judgment to be due, any sum or sums paid at any time after the foreclosure and prior to the expiration of the period of redemption, as taxes assessed against the property and/or the portion of the premium of any insurance policy covering any buildings located on the premises as is required to keep the policy in force until the expiration of the period of redemption, if under the terms of the mortgage it would have been the duty of the defendants determined to be personally liable to have paid the taxes or insurance premium had the mortgage not been foreclosed. In case of any such payment which is made prior to the entry of the order confirming the commissioner's report of sale, determination of the additional liability shall be made in the order. In case of any such payment made after the entry of the order proof of the payment may be made by filing with the register of deeds with whom the deed of sale is deposited, an affidavit of payment by the purchaser or some one in his behalf having knowledge of the facts together with a receipt evidencing the payment of the taxes, or, in case of insurance premiums, an affidavit of an agent of the insurance company stating the making of the payment and also what portion of the payment covers the premium for the period prior to the expiration of the period of redemption. Redemption shall not be effected after the determination, or filing of affidavit and receipt, or affidavits, as the case may be, except upon payment of the additional sum or sums. In case the property is not redeemed the taxes or premiums paid after the confirmation of sale shall not be added to or included in the deficiency judgment.

600.3150 Personal liability for mortgage debt; execution for deficiency; possession.

Sec. 3150. In the original judgment in foreclosure cases the court shall determine and adjudge which defendants, if any, are personally liable on the land contract or for the mortgage debt. The judgment shall provide that upon the confirmation of the commissioner's report of sale that if either the principal, interest or costs ordered to be paid, is left unpaid after applying the amount received by the commissioner for the sale of the premises, the clerk of the court shall issue execution for the amount of the deficiency, upon the application of the attorney for the plaintiff, without notice to the defendant or his attorney. The court also has power to order and compel the delivery of the possession of the premises to the purchaser at the sale.

600.3155 Upset price at sale.

Sec. 3155. In any forfeiture, foreclosure, or specific performance case based upon a mortgage on real estate or land contract the court may fix and determine the minimum price at which the real property covered by the mortgage or land contract may be sold at the sale under the forfeiture, foreclosure, or specific performance proceedings.

HISTORY: New 1961, p. 539, Act 236, Eff. Jan. 1, 1963.

600.3160 Persons other than mortgagor or vendee securing debt.

Sec. 3160. If the land contract or mortgage debt is secured by the obligation or other evidence of debt of any other person besides the vendee or mortgagor, the plaintiff may make that person a party to the action, and the court may order payment of the balance of the debt remaining unsatisfied, after a sale of the mortgaged premises, against this other person as well as against the vendee or mortgagor, and may enforce this judgment as in other cases.

HISTORY: New 1961, p. 539, Act 236, Eff. Jan. 1, 1963.

600.3165 Foreclosure; reference to commissioner; sale in parcels.

Sec. 3165. (1) If the defendant does not bring into court the amount due, with costs, or if for any other cause a judgment is entered for the plaintiff, the court may direct a reference to a circuit court commissioner to ascertain and report the situation of the premises subject to the mortgage or land contract or may itself determine the situation on oral or other testimony. If it appears that the premises can be sold, in parcels, without injury to the interests of the parties, the judgment shall direct as much of the premises subject to the mortgage or land contract to be sold as is sufficient to pay the amount then due on the mortgage or land contract, with costs, and the judgment shall remain as security for any subsequent default.

Subsequent default.

(2) If there is any default subsequent to the judgment, in the payment of any portion or installment of the principal or of any interest due upon the mortgage or land contract, the court may, upon the petition of the plaintiff, by a further order founded upon the first judgment, direct a sale to be made of as much of the premises subject to the mortgage or land contract as is sufficient to satisfy the amount due, with costs of the petition and subsequent proceedings on it, and the same proceedings may be had as often as a default happens.

Sale of whole premises; disposition of proceeds.

(3) If it appears to the court that the premises subject to the mortgage or land contract are so situated that a sale of the whole premises will be most beneficial to the parties the judgment shall be entered for the sale of the whole premises in the first instance. In this case the proceeds of the sale shall be applied to the interests, portion, or installment of the principal due as well as towards the whole or residue of the sum secured by the mortgage or land contract and not due and payable at the time of the sale. And if the residue does not bear interest the court may direct that the residue be paid with a rebate of the legal interest for the time during which the residue will not be due and payable; or the court may direct that the balance of the proceeds of the sale, after paying the sum due with costs, be put out at interest for the benefit of the plaintiff, to be paid to him as the installments or portions of the principal, or the interest become due, and the surplus for the benefit of the defendant, his representatives, or assigns, to be paid to them on the order of the court.

HISTORY: New 1981, p. 539, Act 236, Eff. Jan. 1, 1983.

600.3170 Trust mortgage property; authority of trustee to bid in at foreclosure for bondholders, effect of acquisition on rights of parties.

Sec. 3170. (1) When a complaint is filed in any circuit court for the foreclosure of any trust mortgage or deed of trust given to a trustee or trustees to secure bonds or other obligations issued and authenticated as set forth in the trust instrument, and on the sale of the mortgaged property had under the judgment on the complaint, no bid is made or appears to be obtainable for a sum which in the judgment of the court represents the then fair and reasonable value of the interest in the premises of the holders of the bonds or other obligations secured by the trust mortgage or deed in trust, the court may authorize the trustee or trustees to bid for and acquire the mortgaged property for a sum which in the judgment of the court represents the then fair and reasonable value of the interest. The court shall authorize the trustees to bid only if the court believes that to do so will be for the best interest of the holders of the bonds or obligations as a whole, and only if the persons requesting the authorization shall be representative in number of the persons holding bonds or obligations and hold at least a majority in value of the bonds or obligations. The authorization shall be made on the hearing on the report of the proceedings had in relation to the sale under the foreclosure judgment and may authorize that the bid be made in open court at the hearing or at any further offering for sale if the court directs any further offering for sale to be made. The acquisition by the trustee is subject to all rights of redemption by the mortgagor and other parties. The bid and acquisition and full title if not redeemed shall be for and on behalf of all holders of the bonds or other obligations secured by the mortgage and then outstanding according to their several and respective interests and the property shall be held and administered accordingly. The bid shall be satisfied by a pro rata credit on each bond or other obligation to the extent of the net distribution which would have been distributed on the bonds or other obligations if the bid were to be paid in cash.

Same; management after acquisition, powers and duties of trustee; disposal; report, accounting.

(2) Any property so acquired shall be managed and administered by the trusts under and in accordance with the rules and principles of law and equity pertaining to express trusts generally subject to the jurisdiction of the court to be exercised in the cause by proceedings subsequent to the judgment and order. The trustee shall be allowed all proper expenses and disbursements and reasonable compensation to be approved by the court. The trustee has power and authority to repair, maintain, and operate or lease the property until a sale or other disposal of the property is approved or directed. The trustee may borrow money for the payment of the portion of the bid required to be paid in cash and for any other purpose of the trust or for the benefit of the holders of the bonds, obligations, or beneficial certificates under the trust and secure that borrowed money by mortgage of the property of the trust. This mortgage shall be superior to and binding upon the interests of the holders of the bonds or obligations or beneficial certificates provided for by this section. It is the duty of the trustee to negotiate and effect a sale or other disposal of the property at the earliest time at which it can be done without sacrifice of the fair and reasonable value of the property. Any sale may be for cash or in whole or in part for bonds, notes, debentures, stocks, or other securities. No operating contract which is for more than 2 years or borrowing of money, mortgage, sale, or other disposal shall be made except by and with the approval and authorization of the court upon consent of or due notice to a majority in interest of the then beneficiaries of the trust. The court in the order authorizing the trustee to bid and acquire the property as provided above or by any order made subsequent to it may provide any other terms, conditions, powers, duties, and authority of the trust and of the trustee not inconsistent with the foregoing and any limitations on the foregoing which the court considers just and which are approved by a majority in interest of the beneficiaries of the trust. The court may likewise provide for the surrender and cancellation or for the pro rata cancellation, as the case may be, of the bonds or other obligations and for the issuance of certificates evidencing the beneficial interests in and under the trust. Upon a sale or other disposal of all the trust property and the complete consummation of the disposal the trustee shall render in writing a full and complete report and account of the administration of the trust and of the distribution of the assets of the trust upon which a hearing shall be had after due notice to the holders of beneficial interests whose appearances are then on file. If any trust continues more than 1 year an account and report of its administration shall be rendered when required by the court but at least annually and when any report has been made the final account and report required above shall be required to cover only from the date of the then last account and report.

Construction of section; supplementation by court rule.

(3) This section is intended to be remedial and to be liberally construed and to be supplemented by rule of court if necessary or expedient to the accomplishment or furtherance of its intents and purposes.

600.3175 Discharge of mortgage on real property, land contract or tax lien; action.

Sec. 3175. (1) When a recorded mortgage on real property, land contract, or tax lien (except tax liens held by the state or any political subdivision of the state) on lands or property has been paid or satisfied or when 15 years have elapsed since the debt or lien secured by the mortgage, land contract, or tax lien became due and payable or since the last payment made upon it, and no civil action or proceedings have been commenced to collect the same and in case of tax deeds when no service of notice to interested persons (of any kind) has been filed with the county clerk, the owner of the land or property may institute an action in the circuit courts to discharge the mortgage, land contract or tax lien.

Same; evidence of payment, lapse of 15 years, judgment.

(2) If it appears to the court at the trial, either by the production in evidence of the original mortgage, land contract, tax lien, bond or bonds, promissory notes to secure the payment of which the mortgage was given, or by any other competent evidence, that the debt or lien secured by the mortgage, land contract, or tax lien has been fully paid both in principal and interest; or if it appears to the court by competent evidence that the debt or lien has been past due for 15 years, or that 15 years have elapsed since the last payment was made on the debt or lien and that no action or proceeding has been commenced to foreclose or perfect the mortgage, land contract, or tax lien the court shall enter judgment to that effect which contains within it the names of the witnesses and the nature of the evidence by which the facts have been made to appear. A minute of this shall be entered in the court's journal. A copy of the judgment, signed by the judge of the court and attested by the clerk of the court under the seal of the court shall be delivered to the plaintiff and may be recorded in the office of the register of deeds for the county or counties in which the mortgage, land contract, or tax lien is recorded in the same manner and with the same effects in all respects as if it were a formal discharge of the mortgage, land contract, or tax lien duly executed by the mortgagee or owner of the land contract or tax lien.

600.5637 Complaint; contents; executory land contract.

Sec. 5637. (1) In the cases specified in section 5634, the person entitled to the possession of the premises, his agent or attorney, may make complaint in writing and on oath and deliver the same to a circuit court commissioner or to a justice of the peace, when he shall have jurisdiction under this chapter, setting forth that the person complained of is in possession of the lands or tenements in question, describing them, and that such person holds the same unlawfully, and against the rights of the plaintiff. When a person seeks to recover possession of any lands or tenements from any person who shall hold the same contrary to the conditions or covenants of any executory contract for the purchase thereof, the complaint and summons shall so state.

Premises on island.

(2) No proceedings may be instituted under the provisions of this chapter from November 15 to May 1 where the premises described in the complaint are situate upon an island which is more than 10 miles from the nearest portion of the mainland in the same county in which said premises may be located.

Circuit court commissioner, exclusive jurisdiction in certain counties.

(3) In any county having a population of more than 180,000 and less than 1,000,000 the complaint shall be made only to a circuit court commissioner.

Money judgment; counterclaim.

(4) The plaintiff may allege in the complaint that defendant is indebted to him for breach of the lease or land contract or by reason of wrongful possession of the premises for which possession is sought in the complaint. A money judgment may be rendered in such action against any defendant over whom the court has personal jurisdiction. A defendant against whom a claim is made may file a counterclaim against the plaintiff by way of setoff or recoupment. If the claim for money or counterclaim exceeds the jurisdiction of the court, the court shall hear the claim for possession but shall dismiss the claim for money and counterclaim without prejudice to subsequent action thereon.

Judgment on claim for possession.

(5) Upon proper motion for summary judgment on the pleadings, either party may obtain judgment on the claim for possession. The motion shall be determined independently and without prejudice to any other claims or counterclaim. For the purpose of this paragraph a claim for possession for nonpayment of rent is deemed to include, without limitation thereto, the following issues:

(a) That the defendant has paid the rent due.

(b) That the plaintiff has committed a breach of the lease which excuses the payment of rent.

Upon the return day of said alias summons, if said defendant shall appear, said case shall then be heard in the same manner as mentioned in section 5646. If the defendant fails to appear on the return day of said alias summons, then the officer issuing said alias summons shall adjourn the hearing for 1 week, and on the day to which the hearing shall be adjourned, if the defendant fails to appear, the same proceedings shall be had as if he had appeared at the return of the summons. If the summons shall be returnable in not less than 15 days, the summons shall be served at least 10 days before the time of appearance mentioned therein, by delivering to the defendant, if to be found within the state, a copy thereof, and in cases where the summons may be served outside of the county, a sheriff or constable of any county shall serve same. Service upon any or all of the defendants may be made under any of the original summons, but no more costs shall be taxed in respect to the service of such writs than if but 1 original shall have been issued.

The officer before whom the complaint is filed may continue the cause, from time to time upon proof by affidavit filed with the officer before whom the complaint was filed of any of the following facts:

(a) That the defendant resides out of the state;

(b) That the defendant is a resident of this state, and that process for his appearance has been duly issued and that the same could not be served by reason of his absence from or concealment within this state, or by reason of his continued absence from his place of residence;

(c) That it cannot be ascertained in what state or country the defendant resides.

Order for appearance, contents, publication.

(3) The officer before whom the complaint was filed shall make an order for the appearance of such defendant, within 35 days from the date of said order, which shall contain the time and place set for the hearing of said complaint, the names of the parties in the action, the name of the court before whom the action is pending, and a description of the property set forth in the complaint. Such order shall be published within 12 days after it shall have been made, in some newspaper printed and circulating in the county where the complaint was filed, or such other newspaper as said officer may direct, once in each week for 3 successive weeks. If he neglects or refuses to answer, such officer shall enter such denial for him, and such issue shall be tried and judgment shall be rendered, and the costs shall be taxed and collected in the same manner as in cases of forcible entry or detainer, and with the like effect.

(2) When proceedings are commenced under this chapter to regain possession following the alleged termination of a tenancy, the defendant may file any responsive pleading permitted by court rules.

(3) When proceedings are commenced under this chapter to regain possession following the alleged termination of a tenancy for nonpayment of rent, the defendant, in an appropriate pleading, may state such defense as he may have upon the lease or contract, or against the opposing party.

(4) When proceedings commenced under this chapter are to regain possession of the premises following the alleged termination of a tenancy, if the defendant alleges in a responsive pleading and if it appears by a preponderance of the evidence that any of the following situations exist, judgment shall be entered for the defendant:

(b) That the alleged termination was intended as a penalty for the defendant's complaint to a governmental authority with a report of plaintiff's violation of any health or safety code or ordinance.

(c) That the alleged termination was intended as retribution for any other lawful act arising out of the tenancy.

(d) That the alleged termination was of a tenancy in housing operated by a city, village, township or other unit of local government, and was terminated without cause.

(5) When proceedings commenced under this chapter are to regain possession of the premises following the alleged termination of a tenancy, if the defendant alleges and it appears by a preponderance of the evidence that the plaintiff attempted to increase the defendant's obligations under the lease or contract as a penalty for such lawful acts as are described in subsection (4), and that the defendant's failure to perform such additional obligations was a material reason for the alleged termination, judgment shall be entered for the defendant on the claim of possession, and all such additional obligations shall be void.

If after such notice the owner of the land fails to select his homestead, such officer may select the homestead out of said land for him and the remainder over and above that part selected by the officer or by the owner of the land, as the case may be, alone is subject to sale under such levy or judgment. If the officer making the levy or advertising the property for sale makes the selection of the homestead out of the lands levied upon or advertised for sale, he shall select lands in compact form, which shall include the dwelling house and its appurtenances thereon.

(3) If the plaintiff in execution or in said judgment is dissatisfied with the quantity of land selected and set apart as aforesaid either by the owner of the land or by the officer making the levy or advertising the land for sale, he shall cause the same to be surveyed beginning at a point to be designated by the owner or by the officer making the

(1) Whenever judgment is recovered against any township, village, or city, or against the trustees or common council, or officers thereof, in any action prosecuted by or against them in their name of office, the justice of the peace rendering such judgment, if in a justice's court at any time after the time for appealing has elapsed, or the clerk of the court, if such judgment is rendered in a court of record and has not been reversed, shall, on the application of the party in whose favor such judgment is rendered, his attorney, executor, administrator, or assigns, make and deliver to the party so applying a certified transcript of such judgment, showing the amount and date thereof, with the rate of interest thereon, and of the costs as taxed under the seal of the court, if in a court having a seal. The party so obtaining such certified transcript may file the same with the supervisor of the township, if such judgment is against the township, or with the assessing officer or officers of the city or village, if such judgment is against a city or village. The supervisor or assessing officer receiving any such certified transcript or transcripts of any judgment shall proceed to assess the amount thereof with the costs and interests from the date of rendition of judgment to the time when the warrant for the collection thereof will expire upon the taxable property of the township, city or village, as the case may be, upon the then next tax roll of such township, city or village, without any other or further certificate than such certified transcript as a part of the township, city or village tax, adding the total amount of such judgment as the case may be, to the other township, city or village taxes and assessing the same in the same column with the general township, city or village tax.

Such supervisor or assessing officer shall set forth in the warrant attached to such tax roll each judgment separately, stating the amount thereof and to whom payable, and the same shall be collected and returned in the same manner as other taxes. Such supervisor or assessing officer, at the time when he delivers such tax roll to the treasurer or collecting officer of any such township, city or village, shall deliver to the township clerk or to the clerk or recording officer of any such city or village, a statement in writing under his hand, setting forth in detail and separately such judgment stating the amount with costs and interest as herein provided, and to whom payable. The officer who makes the certified transcript shall attach thereto a copy of said affidavit, the correctness of which copy shall also be certified to in said certificate. Any party receiving such certified transcript of judgment and affidavit may file the same with the supervisor of the township in which any such village, having no assessing officer is located. The supervisor shall assess the amount of said judgment with costs and interest, upon the taxable property of said village, which is without an assessing officer, and thereafter the same steps and proceedings shall be had in the premises as though it were a judgment against the township within which said village is located, save that it shall be assessed against the property within the corporate limits of said village only.

Same; against county or county officer.

(3) When judgment is recovered against any county or the board of supervisors or any county officer in an action prosecuted by or against him in his name of office, the same, unless reversed, shall be levied and collected as other county charges, and when so collected shall be paid by the county treasurer to the person to whom the same shall have been adjudged, upon the delivery of a proper voucher therefor.

(2) If the treasurer fails to certify the judgment, the party obtaining the same, his executors, administrators, or assigns, may file with the supervisor the certificate of the justice or clerk of the court rendering the judgment, showing the facts which should have been certified by the treasurer.

(3) If the district against which any such judgment is rendered is situated in part in 2 or more townships, a certificate thereof shall be delivered as aforesaid to the supervisor of each township in which such district is in part situated.

(4) The supervisor or supervisors receiving either of the certificates of a judgment as aforesaid shall proceed to assess the amount thereof, with interest from the date of the judgment to the time when the warrant for the collection thereof will expire, upon the taxable property of the district, placing the same on the next township assessment roll in the column for school taxes; and the same proceedings shall be had, and the same shall be collected and returned in the same manner as other district taxes.

Such rules shall not become effective until they have been printed in some newspaper circulating in the township or municipality in which such court is established at least 6 days in succession, and placed in the hands of the clerk for distribution for 6 days, who, upon application, shall furnish, without charge, a copy of said rules with amendments thereto. The expense of such printing shall be borne and audited in the same manner as other printing bills of such court.

Such rules may further empower such presiding justice to have general superintendence and supervision over the business of said court and the justices thereof and to impose in such presiding justice powers and duties which would otherwise by law rotate among the justices thereof.

Same; first and alias summons, signatures.

(6) In justices' courts having a clerk and 3 or more justices, the first summons or other process issued may be made returnable not more than 21 days from the date of the issuance of the same. The rules may limit the number of successive pluries summons or writs that may be issued upon the signature of the clerk. The rules may provide for the expeditious handling of such alias and pluries process by the clerk with a view to relieving the justices, where legally possible, of the routine and clerical work connected with the same.

Service of summons; filing of return; garnishment of wages, return day of summons in principal case.

(7) In justices' courts having a clerk and 3 or more justices the service of any writ or summons may be legally made any time prior to 3 days before the return day thereof. 691.1204 Granting of relief; administrative, licensing or other proceedings, remand; adjudication; judicial review.

Sec. 4. (1) The court may grant temporary and permanent equitable relief, or may impose conditions on the defendant that are required to protect the air, water and other natural resources or the public trust therein from pollution, impairment or destruction.

(2) If administrative, licensing or other proceedings are required or available to determine the legality of the defendant's conduct, the court may remit the parties to such proceedings, which proceedings shall be conducted in accordance with and subject to the provisions of Act No. 306 of the Public Acts of 1969, being sections 24.201 to 24.313 of the Compiled Laws of 1948. In so remitting the court may grant temporary equitable relief where necessary for the protection of the air, water and other natural resources or the public trust therein from pollution, impairment or destruction. In so remitting the court shall retain jurisdiction of the action pending completion thereof for the purpose of determining whether adequate protection from pollution, impairment or destruction has been afforded.

(3) Upon completion of such proceedings, the court shall adjudicate the impact of the defendant's conduct on the air, water or other natural resources and on the public trust therein in accordance with this act. In such adjudication the court may order that additional evidence be taken to the extent necessary to protect the rights recognized in this act.

(4) Where, as to any administrative, licensing or other proceeding, judicial review thereof is available, notwithstanding the provisions to the contrary of Act No. 306 of the Public Acts of 1969, pertaining to judicial review, the court originally taking jurisdiction shall maintain jurisdiction for purposes of judicial review.

(2) In any such administrative, licensing or other proceedings, and in any judicial review thereof, any alleged pollution, impairment or destruction of the air, water or other natural resources or the public trust therein, shall be determined, and no conduct shall be authorized or approved which does, or is likely to have such effect so long as there is a feasible and prudent alternative consistent with the reasonable requirements of the public health, safety and welfare.

(3) The doctrines of collateral estoppel and res judicata may be applied by the court to prevent multiplicity of suits.

Sec. 2. Each governmental agency having jurisdiction over any highway shall maintain the highway in reasonable repair so that it is reasonably safe and convenient for public travel. Any person sustaining bodily injury or damage to his property by reason of failure of any governmental agency to keep any highway under its jurisdiction in reasonable repair, and in condition reasonably safe and fit for travel, may recover the damages suffered by him from such governmental agency. The liability, procedure and remedy as to county roads under the jurisdiction of a county road commission shall be as provided in section 21, chapter 4 of Act No. 283 of the Public Acts of 1909, as amended, being section 224.21 of the Compiled Laws of 1948. 691.1403 Defective highways; knowledge of defect, repair.

Sec. 3. No governmental agency is liable for injuries or damages caused by defective highways unless the governmental agency knew, or in the exercise of reasonable diligence should have known, of the existence of the defect and had a reasonable time to repair the defect before the injury took place. Knowledge of the defect and time to repair the same shall be conclusively presumed when the defect existed so as to be readily apparent to an ordinarily observant person for a period of 30 days or longer before the injury took place.

HISTORY: New 1964, p. 222, Act 170, Eff. Jul. 1, 1965.

The notice shall specify the exact location and nature of the defect, the injury sustained and the names of the witnesses known at the time by the claimant.

(2) The notice may be served upon any individual, either personally, or by certified mail, return receipt requested, who may lawfully be served with civil process directed against the governmental agency, anything to the contrary in the charter of any municipal corporation notwithstanding. In case of the state, such notice shall be filed in triplicate with the clerk of the court of claims. Filing of such notice shall constitute compliance with section 6431 of Act No. 236 of the Public Acts of 1961, being section 600.6431 of the Compiled Laws of 1948, requiring the filing of notice of intention to file a claim against the state. If the injured person is physically or mentally incapable of giving notice, he shall serve the notice required by subsection (1) not more than 180 days after the termination of the disability. Governmental agencies are liable for bodily injury and property damage resulting from a dangerous or defective condition of a public building if the governmental agency had actual or constructive knowledge of the defect and, for a reasonable time after acquiring knowledge, failed to remedy the condition or to take action reasonably necessary to protect the public against the condition. Knowledge of the dangerous and defective condition of the public building and time to repair the same shall be conclusively presumed when such defect existed so as to be readily apparent to an ordinary observant person for a period of 90 days or longer before the injury took place. As a condition to any recovery for injuries sustained by reason of any dangerous or defective public building, the injured person, within 120 days from the time the injury occurred, shall serve a notice on the responsible governmental agency of the occurrence of the injury and the defect. The notice shall specify the exact location and nature of the defect, the injury sustained and the names of the witnesses known at the time by the claimant.

The notice may be served upon any individual, either personally, or by certified mail, return receipt requested, who may lawfully be served with civil process directed against the responsible governmental agency, anything to the contrary in the charter of any municipal corporation notwithstanding. HISTORY: CL 1948, 701.1;—Am. 1963, 2nd Ex. Ses., p. 24, Act 16, Imd. Eff. Dec. 27.

This section supersedes with additions Sec. 1 of Ch. III of Act 314 of 1915, being CL 1915, 12229;—CL 1929, 13863.

CITED IN OTHER SECTIONS: Sections 701.1 to 713.6 are cited in § 168.557.

701.2 Probate judges; number in each county; referendum on increase, contents.

Sec. 2. In counties having less than 100,000 inhabitants there shall be 1 judge of probate. In counties having more than 1,000,000 inhabitants there shall be 6 judges of probate, 3 of whom shall be elected at each alternate biennial election for terms of 4 years each. Counties having more than 100,000 inhabitants and 2 judges of probate shall continue to have 2 judges of probate. Counties having more than 100,000 and less than 1,000,000 inhabitants shall have 1 judge of probate unless the electors of such county vote in favor of having 2 judges of probate as provided in this section. Such question shall be submitted to the voters of any such county at the next general election which is held at least 30 days after either the adoption of a resolution by a majority vote of the members of the board of supervisors of such county or by the filing of a petition with the county clerk of such county signed by a number of the qualified electors of such county equal to at least 10% of the entire vote cast for the office of secretary of state in such county at the last general election, and requesting the submission of such question to the electors of such county. Such question shall be submitted by ballot in substantially the following form:

“Shall there be 2 judges of probate of county instead of 1?

Yes ()

No ()”

All votes on the question shall be counted, canvassed and returned in the same manner as is provided by law for the counting, canvassing and returning of votes cast for county officers. Ballots shall be furnished by the election commission of such county. In case a majority of the electors voting upon such question at such election shall vote in favor thereof, such county shall thenceforth have 2 judges of probate and the additional office shall be filled at the next general election except as otherwise provided in this section. If the board of supervisors resolves or a petition to provide for a second probate judge is filed more than 20 days prior to the time for the filing of primary nominating petitions for probate judge, candidates for the office of probate judge may file for the office and the nominees at such primary election shall be candidates for the office at the next general election. If the office is created, the probate judge shall serve a term of 6 years commencing January 1 next following and until his successor is elected and qualified. If the proposition is submitted at a general election at which a probate judge is elected, the board of supervisors shall designate whether the additional probate judge shall have a term of 4 or 8 years.

In counties which now have 2 probate judges and which now have or which shall hereafter attain a population of at least 250,000 but less than 1,000,000 inhabitants, the board of supervisors of such counties, by a majority vote of all members of the board, may provide for the election of a third probate judge at the next biennial November election. In order to insure that the 3 probate judges of such counties are elected in staggered November elections, the first term of a third probate judge so elected shall expire January 1 of the next odd numbered year in which neither existing term ends. In no instance, however, shall the term be for less than 6 years.

Counties having more than 150,000 and less than 250,000 inhabitants, and not having 2 probate judges, shall have 2 probate judges, and the boards of supervisors in counties affected by this amendatory act shall provide for the election of a second judge of probate at the next biennial November election. In order to insure that the 2 judges of probate are elected in staggered November elections, the term of the second judge of probate herein created shall be either for a 2 or 4-year term, as determined by the board of supervisors, if the election of the incumbent judge of probate is also required at the next biennial November election.

Nothing contained herein shall be construed to affect the tenure of office of those judges of probate or their successors heretofore elected and qualified.

All beneficial devises, legacies and gifts whatsoever, made or given in any will to a subscribing witness thereto, shall be wholly void, unless there be 2 other competent subscribing witnesses to the same; but a mere charge on the lands of the devisor for the payment of debts shall not prevent his creditors from being competent witnesses to his will.

Whenever any testator, after the execution of his will, makes a contract for the sale or conveyance of any property therein specifically devised or bequeathed to any person and the whole or any part of the purchase money remains unpaid at such testator's death, the disposition of the property by such contract shall not be deemed a revocation of the devise or bequest either at law or in equity unless it clearly appears by the contract or by some other instrument in writing to be intended as a revocation, and such property then shall pass to such devisee or legatee subject to the same remedy for specific performance thereof in favor of persons entitled thereto, against the person to whom such devise was made, as might be had in law or in equity against the heirs of such testator had the same descended or passed to them, and any portion of the purchase money recovered by the executor of the testator shall be paid to the devisee or legatee of such property.

Sec. 11. When a devise or legacy shall be made to any child or other relation of the testator, and the devisee or legatee shall die before the testator, leaving issue who shall survive the testator, such issue shall take the estate so given by the will, in the same manner as the devisee or legatee would have done, if he had survived the testator; unless a different disposition shall be made or directed by the will: Provided, however, That except in the case of a residuary devise or legacy, such issue shall not take the devise or bequest where the relationship of the devisee or legatee to the testator is beyond the fourth degree, but in such case the devise or legacy shall become a part of the residue of the estate.

Sec. 14. When any share of the estate of a testator shall be assigned to a child born after the making of a will, or to a child, or the issue of a child omitted in the will, as hereinbefore mentioned, the same shall first be taken from the estate not disposed of by the will, if any; if that shall not be sufficient, so much as shall be necessary shall be taken from all the devisees or legatees, in proportion to the value of the estate they may respectively receive under the will, unless the obvious intention of the testator, in relation to some specific devise or bequest, or other provision in the will would thereby be defeated; in which case, such specific devise, legacy or provision may be exempted from such apportionment, and a different apportionment may be adopted, in the discretion of the probate court.

The failure of a resident testator to leave any property, real or personal, in this state shall not be a bar to the admission to probate of the will of the testator.

Such petition shall contain the name of the testator, his last domicile, the date of his death, the estimated amount of his property, real and personal, the date of the will,

the names of the witnesses thereto, the name and address of the executor nominated under the will or the name and address of the person nominated for administrator with will annexed, together with the names, ages and addresses of all of the heirs, devisees, and legatees of the deceased, if known.

The will of any deceased person domiciled within the state, which shall have been filed for or presented for probate and allowance in any jurisdiction other than the domicile of such deceased person, may be established and probated in the probate court of the county in this state in which the testator was domiciled, by duly filing an exemplified copy of the will and a petition praying for the probate of the will, which petition shall contain the names of the subscribing witnesses and if living, their places of residence, together with the names and residences of all known persons who have personal knowledge of the execution of the will. The execution of the will may be proven on the testimony of 1 of the subscribing witnesses or on the testimony of any person who has personal knowledge of the execution of the will. Upon satisfactory proof that the subscribing witnesses and all known persons who have personal knowledge of the execution of the will are not within the state, the court may grant probate thereof on the filing of an exemplified copy of the proof of the will in the other jurisdiction.

If objections are filed less than 5 days prior to the date of hearing, the proponent shall be entitled to an adjournment of at least 5 days as a matter of right. The filing of objections shall not be a prerequisite to an appeal from any order of the probate court admitting the will to probate or to the certification of the will to the circuit court for contest. In the event of a contest on the will, the probate court may in its discretion authorize or instruct the person therein nominated as executor or proponent to retain counsel for the purpose of sustaining the will and the reasonable expense thereof and of procuring evidence thereon shall be a proper charge against the estate.

On showing of necessity, such allowances may be continued from time to time in any solvent estate beyond such year, but such allowances beyond such year shall be charged as advancements from the estate against the interest of the widow or against the interests of the minor children, as the case may be.

(2) Except where sufficient provisions shall have been made by will for their maintenance, or where their shares of the estate are in the judgment of the probate court sufficient therefor, the children under 16 years of age of a deceased man shall, after payment of all prior charges against such estate and before any partition or division of any estate among the heirs, devisees or legatees, have such reasonable allowances out of the real and personal estate of such deceased as the probate court shall judge necessary for their maintenance, according to their circumstances, until they attain that age, taking into consideration the provisions made by will for their maintenance, or their shares of the estate, and the probate court may order the executor or administrator to retain in his hands sufficient estate for that purpose.

(3) The widow may remain in the dwelling house of her husband 1 year after his death without being chargeable with rent therefor.

(4) In any case where a deceased woman was at the time of her death the sole surviving parent of any minor children or where such minor children were principally supported by such deceased woman, the probate court may order the payment of allowances for the support of such children in the same manner as provided in this chapter for the support of children of a deceased man.

Second: That she will have her homestead right and be endowed of the lands of her husband.

Third: That she will take the same share or part of the real estate left by her husband as provided by law in case he had died intestate, and also that she will take the sum or share of personal property that would have passed to her had the testator died intestate, until the sum of such personal property shall amount to $5,000.00, and of the residue of the personal property in said estate 1/2 the sum or share that would have passed to her had the testator died intestate: Provided, however, That where the effect of such election on the part of the widow under this subdivision shall be to enable such widow to take all of the real estate of the husband, then her election shall be limited so as to enable her to take a 1/2 interest therein absolutely. The other 1/2 interest in said real estate shall go to her subject to any devise or legacy which may be provided by the husband in his last will and testament. She shall be entitled to only 1 such choice unless the contrary plainly appears by the will to have been intended by the testator: Provided further, That such election shall be made within 60 days after the entry of the said order closing the estate to claims, or prior to 60 days after the filing of the inventory, and proof of service upon the widow of notice of such filing, whichever date is later.

Sec. 72. When the widow shall be entitled to an election as hereinbefore provided and shall fail to make an election within the time limited, it shall be conclusively presumed that she elects to abide by the terms of the will or that she elects to take such jointure or if it be an intestate estate that she elects to take according to the provisions of this chapter relating to the descent of real estate, as the case may be, except (a) that in cases where no election has been made, and the principal administration shall have been closed, and it appears to the court thereafter that assets belonging to the estate have been discovered and administration de bonis non has been granted, such election may be made out of such newly discovered assets only upon good cause shown at any time before such administration de bonis non is closed; and (b) that the judge of probate may, at any time before the estate is closed, upon petition of the widow, after notice to all persons interested, permit the widow to make any of the foregoing elections to which she was entitled as though she had done so within said 60 day period, when on account of litigation connected with the estate or the establishment of further claims against the deceased or any other cause, he deems it proper to do so, and said judge shall, in such order, limit the time within which the widow shall make such election: Provided, That in case the fiduciary shall, after the expiration of said 60 day period and before such order of the court permitting the widow to make such delayed election have sold and conveyed real estate of the deceased, the widow's dower and homestead, if such be her election, shall be set off to her out of the lands not so conveyed, but to the amount and value she was entitled to at the death of her husband, if so much remains unsold.

When proceedings shall be taken in the probate court to obtain a license for the sale of real estate of the deceased, the widow may appear voluntarily and waive dower and homestead in such real estate and in the event such rights shall not be waived, there shall be served personally upon the widow at least 10 days prior to the hearing on the petition for license to sell, a notice to appear and elect whether she will take her dower and homestead in the real estate sought to be sold, and in the event that said widow shall not then give notice of her intention to take dower and homestead, the same shall be deemed waived by her and the said widow shall thereafter be barred from claiming any dower or homestead in any real estate sold pursuant to such notice and license; and in the event that it shall be deemed necessary by the judge of probate for said widow to have additional time in which to determine as to such election, the judge of probate may grant such additional time as shall seem proper.

After hearing the report of such disinterested persons and the testimony offered by any other interested party, the court shall enter an order in its discretion. When such order is not appealed from or is affirmed on appeal, a certified copy thereof shall be recorded in the office of the register of deeds in the county in which such real estate is situate. Unless an agreement provides to the contrary, a written waiver of all rights in the property or estate of a present or prospective spouse is a waiver of all rights to an elective share, dower, homestead allowance, exempt property and family allowance by each spouse in the property of the other and an irrevocable renunciation by each of all benefits which would otherwise pass to him from the other by intestate succession or by virtue of the provisions of any will executed before the agreement or waiver.

Sec. 32. A duly exemplified copy of any letters testamentary, of administration or guardianship, or letters of trusteeship, heretofore issued by any probate court of this state, in which the exemplification shall contain a statement of the date to which said letters continued in force unsuspended and unrevoked, shall be entitled to record in the office of any register of deeds of any county in this state, where an instrument in writing, executed by any person under authority of said letters has been recorded. Such record, or a duly certified copy thereof, shall be prima facie evidence of the facts therein contained in all courts and legal proceedings in this state.

HISTORY: CL 1948, 704.32. This section re-enacts with addition of words "or letters of trusteeship" Sec. 3 of Act 176 of 1889, being How. 6812c;—CL 1897, 9042;—CL 1915, 11777;—CL 1929, 13369.

COMPENSATION OF FIDUCIARIES.

704.33 Compensation of fiduciaries; determination; extraordinary services.

Sec. 33. Every guardian, testamentary trustee or special administrator shall be allowed the amount of his reasonable expenses incurred in the execution of his trust, and he shall also have such compensation for his services as the court in which his accounts are settled shall deem to be just and reasonable: Provided, however, That when compensation shall be provided by will for a testamentary trustee, such provision shall be deemed full compensation for his services if he accepts the trust under the will, unless he shall, by written instrument filed in the probate court at the time of his acceptance renounce his claim to compensation provided by the will.

All other fiduciaries, except when compensation shall be provided by will, and the fiduciary shall not renounce his claim thereto at the time of his acceptance of the trust, shall be allowed all necessary expenses in the care and management and settlement of the estate, and commissions upon the amount of personal estate collected and accounted for by him, and of the proceeds of real estate sold under an order of the court for any purpose, or sold under a power of sale in the will, as follows: For the first $1,000.00, at the rate of 5 per cent; for all above that sum and not exceeding $5,000.00, at the rate of 2 ½ per cent; and for all above $5,000.00, at the rate of 2 per cent: Provided, That the judge of probate may, upon petition of the fiduciary, also allow the foregoing commissions upon the amount of real property, or any portion thereof, inventoried and accounted for by said fiduciary. In the case of a successor fiduciary or fiduciaries, the judge of probate, in his discretion, shall be authorized to apportion the foregoing compensation among the first and successor fiduciaries. The foregoing provisions for commissions for fiduciaries other than guardians, testamentary trustees and special administrators shall not be construed as precluding the allowance by the judge of probate in addition thereto, as a part of necessary expenses of the care, management and settlement of estates, of reasonable commissions paid to agents employed in the sale of either personal or real estate.

In all guardianships and trusteeships, the fees may be taken at intervals as approved by the court.

In all cases, where the fiduciary, other than the guardian, testamentary trustee or special administrator, shall perform any extraordinary services not required of a fiduciary in the common course of his duties and in cases of unusual difficulty or responsibility such further allowance may be made as the judge of probate shall deem just and reasonable: Provided, however, That such allowance shall only be made upon the filing of a petition therefor, setting forth in detail such extraordinary services, or the reasons for considering the case one of unusual difficulty or responsibility, and the order making any such allowance shall recite in detail the extraordinary services for which such allowance is made, giving the amount allowed for each item thereof, or the reasons for considering the case one of unusual difficulty or responsibility.

The order of the probate court allowing any account of a fiduciary shall, subject to the right of appeal, and except in case of fraudulent concealment or fraudulent misrepresentation on the part of the fiduciary be final and conclusive against all persons in any way interested therein who are legally competent at the date of such order and against all other persons who are or may become interested therein although unborn, unascertained or legally incompetent to act in their own behalf if their general guardian or guardian ad litem has, after having been duly appointed, assented to such account or has been heard thereon, or given notice of hearing thereon, as provided in this act: Provided, That no final account, petition for determination of heirs or assignment of residue affecting the title to real estate shall be heard unless publication of notice be had as provided in section 32 of chapter 1 of this act, except where a will has been admitted to probate after publication pursuant to said section.

Every fiduciary, whenever his personal interests conflict with the interest of the estate, or whenever any other reason exists which the judge of probate may deem proper, may be allowed to resign his trust: Provided, That such fiduciary shall, prior to the time of his resignation, have settled and adjusted his accounts with the estate of which he may be fiduciary: Provided further, That the sureties of such fiduciary shall not be released from liability until such fiduciary shall have fully settled and adjusted his accounts aforesaid.

704.49 Resignation and discharge of fiduciary; petition, citation.

Sec. 49. A fiduciary may, at any time, present to the probate court a written petition, duly verified, praying that his account may be judicially settled; that a decree may thereupon be made allowing him to resign his trust and discharging him accordingly; and that all persons who are entitled, absolutely or contingently, by the terms of the will or other instrument creating the trust, or by operation of law, to share in the fund or estate, or the proceeds of any property held by the petitioner, as a part of his trust, may be cited to show cause why such a decree should not be made. The petition must set forth the facts upon which the application is founded; and it must in all other respects conform to a petition presented for a judicial settlement of the account of a fiduciary, as prescribed in this chapter. The judge of probate may, in his discretion, entertain or decline to entertain the petition. If he entertains it, the proceedings must be in all respects the same as upon a petition for a judicial settlement of the petitioner's account, except that upon the hearing the judge of probate must first determine whether sufficient reasons exist for granting the prayer of the petition; and if he determines that they exist, he shall make an order accordingly, allowing the petitioner to account for the purpose of being discharged. Upon the petitioner's fully accounting and paying all money belonging to the trust and delivering all books, papers and other property of the trust in his hands either into the probate court or as the judge of probate directs, a decree may be made accepting his resignation, and discharging him accordingly.

Sec. 51. Where a fiduciary dies or is by the order of the probate court removed or allowed to resign, or a vacancy in the office of such fiduciary is in any manner created, or the estate is closed without being fully administered, and the trust or estate has not been fully executed, the court shall appoint his successor unless such an appointment would contravene the express terms of the will. Where 1 of 2 or more fiduciaries die or are by order of the probate court removed, or allowed to resign, a successor shall not be appointed except where such appointment is necessary in order to comply with the express terms of the will, or unless the court shall be of the opinion that the appointment of a successor would be for the benefit of the cestui que trust or estate. Unless and until a successor is appointed, the remaining fiduciary or fiduciaries may proceed and execute the trust or estate as fully as if such fiduciary or fiduciaries had not died, been removed or resigned. The successor shall be appointed in the manner prescribed by this act for the appointment of fiduciaries.

PAYMENT TO THE COUNTY TREASURER.704.55 Depositing of funds with county treasurer; sale of personal property; bond of county treasurer; disbursement of funds.

Sec. 55. When any fiduciary shall have made approved final settlement with the probate court, it shall be the duty of the court to order said fiduciary, in exchange for suitable receipts, to deposit with the county treasurer such moneys or personal property as he may have belonging (a) to any heir, legatee or claimant whose whereabouts, after diligent inquiry, he cannot ascertain, (b) to any heir, legatee or claimant who has declined to accept the funds awarded to him, (c) or to any person when the right of such person shall have been made the subject of appeal from the orders of the probate court. In the event that personal property other than money shall be in the hands of any fiduciary after approved final settlement with the probate court, which belongs to any heir, legatee or claimant whose whereabouts after diligent inquiry he cannot ascertain, or who has declined to accept the property awarded to him, said fiduciary shall petition the probate court for authority to sell such personal property for the purpose of reducing the same to money to be deposited with the county treasurer, as in this section provided, and upon due hearing thereon the court may order the same sold upon such notice as the court may provide.

Upon the filing of said receipts in the probate court where such approved settlement has been made, such fiduciary shall be entitled to have an order made discharging him and his bond, the same as though he had paid or delivered the money or property to the heir, legatee or claimant and filed receipt therefor, and it shall be the duty of the county treasurer, upon being furnished with a certified copy of such order, to receive the money mentioned in said order and safely keep the same. The county treasurer shall keep all such moneys in a separate fund and keep a separate account with each individual mentioned in the aforesaid orders. He may deposit such sums in a county depository at the current rate of interest, and he shall pay out from said fund from time to time upon the order of the probate court and shall turn over any surplus left in his hands at the termination of his term of office to his successor. The county treasurer at the commencement of each term of office and before receiving any such moneys, shall also give a bond running to the judge of probate, and his successor in office, with 2 or more sufficient sureties to be approved by the judge of probate, and in such sum as he shall direct, conditioned that such person and his deputy shall pay out said moneys whether the same shall have been turned over to him by his predecessor in office, or deposited with him during the term which he is then commencing, or during a prior term of office, only on the orders of the judge of probate and shall render to the judge of probate, and to the board of supervisors, at the end of each year a true account of said moneys and that he will deliver over to his successor in office all moneys, and books, papers and other things appertaining or belonging thereto. The judge of probate may, at any time, require the county treasurer to give such new or additional bond conditioned as above stated as the amount of moneys deposited with the treasurer or other circumstances may in his opinion necessitate. The bond so deposited by the county treasurer and his sureties thereon shall be discharged from further liability thereunder upon the filing of a new bond by his successor in office, unless he has failed to account for any of such moneys as herein required, or to turn the same over to his successor in office. The county treasurer, for the care of said fund, shall be allowed to take 1 per cent out of the different sums paid out by him upon the order of the probate court, unless the amount so paid out to any 1 individual shall exceed the sum of $1,000.00, in which case he shall take $10.00 plus 1/2 of 1 per cent of the excess of said amount over $1,000.00. When the money shall be deposited as aforesaid, any person or persons entitled to the same may at any time apply to the court making said order for an order directing the county treasurer to pay over said money, and upon satisfactory proof being made to the court, of the right of the claimant to said money, said court shall make an order directing the county treasurer to pay the same over to him or them. Upon receiving such application, the court shall make such order as to notice of the hearing as it may think proper.

Actions on the bond given by the county treasurer may be started in the name of the probate judge, for the use and benefit of any one interested, in the same manner and with the same effect as allowed by law upon bonds given by fiduciaries.

704.55a Payment of moneys for benefit of heir, legatee, distributee or beneficiary; sale of property; proceedings under section.

Sec. 55a. Where it appears that an heir, legatee, distributee or beneficiary of a trust would not have the benefit or use or control of the money or other property due him, or where it appears that the person entitled to the money or property is a resident and national of a foreign country, and the federal statutes or federal regulations preclude the payment or delivery, directly or indirectly, of moneys from the federal treasury to persons who are residents and nationals of such foreign country, the probate court may direct that such money or the proceeds of such other property after deduction of administration expenses, inheritance taxes and other charges approved by the court, be paid and delivered to the county treasurer, or to a statutory trustee appointed by the court, for the benefit of such heir, legatee, distributee or such persons who may thereafter appear entitled thereto. The money so paid to the county treasurer or to the statutory trustee shall be paid out only by the special order of the probate court or pursuant to the judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction. The order shall also direct the sale of all such property other than cash. When any of the property is real estate or personal property or any interest therein, the court, upon petition of the fiduciary or any other interested party, may order, license and empower such sale and conveyance or transfer to be made. The proceedings under this section shall be the same as for the sale of similar property by fiduciaries excepting that the petition and order therefor shall set forth the entry of the order as the ground for the sale, conveyance or transfer.

DISCHARGE OF FIDUCIARY.

704.56 Discharge of fiduciary; reopening estates.

Sec. 56. After allowance of the final account and entry of order for distribution, the fiduciary shall make distribution, taking receipts for the same, and upon filing such receipts and the receipts showing payment of the inheritance tax or the issuance of an order determining that no tax is payable, he may be discharged and his bondsmen released.

The court may, upon petition having been filed after the closing of an estate, cause the same to be reopened for the purpose of administering after discovered assets or to complete the administration of the same in case said estate was closed without being fully administered by the fiduciary or court, or for the correction of typographical errors, omissions, or misdescription of property contained in any order or record in said estate, and for any of these purposes may appoint a successor fiduciary: Provided, however, That the failure of a claimant to file a claim against said estate during the original administration thereof shall not be a cause for reopening the same or for the appointment of a successor fiduciary.

704.60 Voting of corporate shares of stock by fiduciary; procedure.

Sec. 60. Unless the instrument or order appointing such fiduciary or fiduciaries otherwise directs: (a) a fiduciary may vote shares of stock of a corporation standing in his name or in the name of any person for whom he is authorized to act, either in person or by proxy, for all purposes, without the necessity of any authorization by a court and any officer, agent, or employee of a corporate fiduciary may vote such shares at such corporate meetings on behalf of such corporate fiduciary; (b) where there are more than 2 fiduciaries, the will of a majority of such fiduciaries shall control the manner of voting or the giving of a proxy; (c) where in any case the fiduciaries are equally divided upon the manner of voting such shares or the giving of a proxy, the probate court may, on petition filed by any 1 or more of such joint fiduciaries or by any party in interest, appoint, for the purpose of the particular meeting or meetings of shareholders set forth in such petition, another person to act with such fiduciaries in determining the manner in which such shares shall be voted upon the particular questions as to which such fiduciaries are equally divided, and may fix the compensation of such person; (d) where only 1 of such fiduciaries shall be present in person at any corporate meeting at which shares are to be voted, the vote of such fiduciary shall be regarded as representing the will of all of the joint fiduciaries in the absence of a proxy on file with the corporation signed by a majority of said fiduciaries; (e) where an even number of joint fiduciaries, having failed to avail themselves of the remedy provided in clause (c) hereof, are equally divided, their opposite votes in person or by proxy shall result in no vote being cast on behalf of the shares held by them. This section shall apply to fiduciaries whether appointed prior or subsequent to the effective date hereof.
